

Karo Harutyunyan

Karo Harutyunyan is a 21-year-old student from Armenia pursuing a degree in Economics and Political Science, along with a certificate in Sustainability and Energy, at Northwestern University, United States. His academic and professional interests focus on the intersection of public policy, sustainable development, and international trade. During summer 2025, he will pursue more in-depth study of these subjects at the London School of Economics and Political Science (LSE) where he will be taking courses on political economy and public policy.

Karo serves as a member of the organizing committee at the Northwestern Buffett Institute for Global Affairs, where he is helping to coordinate the upcoming "Youth and Peacebuilding" Symposium.
